The three most important things that we as citizens and city officials of Carmel have to guard continually is keeping Carmel, first and foremost, a residential community. Continue our present excellent forestry division under its present professional guidance, and above all, keep an ever watchful eye on City expenditures so as to maintain our tax rate at a level our residents can afford.

Our small quaint shops certainly add to the uniqueness of Carmel as well as contributing toward our tax base thereby keeping overall taxes lower than most areas in California. I am particularly proud of our devotion to the performing arts, artists, sculptors, music and the many fine galleries. They play a great roll in making Carmel the place we love and live.

At the present time we have a very competent Council. In my opinion they have worked well together and have accomplished many constructive programs for the future of Carmel. Needless to say we will continue to be confronted with many complex problems, which I am sure, Carmel is ready to face.

I have had the pleasure of serving on the Carmel City Planning Commission for the past three years, last year as their Chairman. In addition I have been active in civic affairs, having served on various committees. Regardless of whether or not you, the Citizens of Carmel, desire to elect me as your new City Councilman, I will continue to serve Carmel in every way possible.

Charles W. McEven

Gunnar Norberg

To try to keep outsized business structures or out-of-scale business developments from being established here, city fathers more than forty years ago wrote at the start of the city zoning law, that Carmel should always be "...primarily, essentially, and predominantly a residential city wherein business and commerce have in the past, are now, and are proposed to be in the future, subordinated to its residential character..."

Periodically there have been threats, or the likelihood of threats, to the basic village character, the notable individualism, and the special cultural emphasis of Carmel. When City Councils have faced up to perils in time, they have succeeded.

Three years ago the City Council referred certain control proposals of mine to the city planning commission nor the City Council have acted upon them. The proposals were intended to close the door against additional and larger motels, and to set bounds against any new large-sized, out-of-scale business buildings. There is still time — though there may not be much time — to put these proposals into law. I want to try again to put them into effect.

Seven years ago — when I was not a member of the City Council — the City Council established what was called an "overlay" zone which not only legalized seven of the nine gasoline service stations here (which, until then, had existed as "non-conforming" uses), but also opened the door to possible additional service stations on sites where they previously had been forbidden. I believe it is time to reconsider this "overlay" zone, and I further believe it should not include any sites on which no service stations have so far been built. Service stations are difficult to fit into Carmel's planning pattern, and the existing 10 are certainly enough for Carmel's needs.

GUNNAR NORBERG

Bernard Anderson

Over the years the citizens of Carmel have endeavored to keep the friendly spirit of a quiet country village where if you had problems your neighbor was ready to lend a helping hand; where one could live and pursue the cultural activities that have been the background of its fame. But the very fact that Carmel is such a desirable place to live, whether you are here on a permanent basis or as a tourist for a few days' stay to enjoy its beaches, its climate, or artistic advantages, also brings problems.

As a candidate for Councilman I am concerned, aren't you, about:

1. Protecting Carmel's wholesome healthy environment as a safe, law-abiding community through vigorous cooperation with public officials.
2. Economic well being of Carmel and a balance between residential and business interests.
3. Keeping taxes at a minimum while providing efficient city government and services.
4. Finding solutions to drug abuse and the city's role in cooperation with parents, schools and youth organizations.
5. The assurance that the Library and Sunset Center serve the best interests of all.
6. Keeping Carmel beautiful and healthful, free from air and water pollution.

With a lifetime record as an executive, U.S. Forest Service, with demonstrated ability to analyze problems, develop solutions and implement action, I ask you to give me the opportunity to serve Carmel.

City forester putting tree care on systematic basis

By Jim Warne

From the moment of its conception, Carmel has taken extreme pride in the forest that secludes its city. Precise steps have been taken to insure the continual growth and abundance of trees, to keep Carmel a "city in the forest."

The city council in October 1968, felt a need to create a new position and office within the city. This office would be directly responsible for the maintenance of the forest.

Robert Tate, a graduate of the University of California in forestry came to Carmel as the first city forester. Under his guidance the trees are maintained and the areas are cultivated to enhance the natural beauty of the forest.

Until recently, Tate and his crew were almost unnoticed as they went through their daily schedule.

However, on March 4, the city forester, the forestry commission and the city council were brought under criticism by local residents. A petition was submitted to city council by a local resident protesting the cutting of trees near the tennis courts at Forest Hill Park.

On March 10, the forestry commission and Tate toured the site where the cutting had been in progress, and it was pointed out that all citizens should be aware of the reasons for cutting and the objectives of the city forestry department as part of a program to guarantee Carmel will remain "a city in the forest."

Until the hiring of Tate, no intensive or planned forestry practices were accomplished. Cutting, trimming, and spraying was all done on a hit-or-miss basis with no systematic objectives in mind.

Now the city forester concentrates on the main areas of the improvement of tree site or stands which involves the cutting of smaller tres that are being suppressed by larger ones. The smaller trees, many of which have reached full, but stunted growth, take moisture and nutrition from the soil which should be going to the stronger, healthier trees to increase their resistance to infection. Thus the thinning of the smaller trees.

Spraying of city trees systematically combats the constant bombardment of fungus and insects.

The last main area of concentration is tree trimming. This practice increases the health and beauty of the forest and it also prevents a danger from falling limbs.

To date only "stop gap" action has been undertaken because of the overwhelming backlog of requests from private citizens and lack of adequate manpower to accomplish the many essential problems that threaten the forest. San Antonio street alone with the present crew it would take one year to trim and administer necessary work.

A systematic schedule has been attempted but with the overflow of critical immediate work it has been very perplexing as to how a priority of work can be established.

Preventative action is the best avenue of success. This department needs the support of all Carmel citizens to secure the right to be called the "city in the forest."

JEANNETTE WALTERS

Jeanette Walters soloist at next Symphony concert

Jeannette Walters, the young "dramatic soprano" from Baltimore, whose voice quality and commanding presence have been compared to those of Marian Anderson, is to be the featured soloist of the Monterey County Symphony's fifth concert of the season.

Miss Walters has selected arias from Verdi and Mozart operas for her appearance Sunday, April 5 at the Symphony's concert at MPC Gym-Auditorium at 8 p.m. Monday night's program will be at 8:30 in the Washington Junior High Auditorium in Salinas, and Tuesday night's concert will be at Carmel's Sunset Auditorium at 8:30.

Under the baton of Maestro Haymo Taeuber, the concert will open with the performance of van Reznicek's Overture to Donna Diane, followed by the three operatic arias by Miss Walters, and concluding with Anton Bruckner's Seventh Symphony.

The three operatic arias to be sung by Miss Jeannette Walters, include "Ritorna vincitor" from Verdi's "Aida", in which she sings of her love for both her father and Radames, and her inability to reconcile these emotions. Another aria is "Pace, pace, mio Dio" from "La Forza del Destino" by Verdi. This dramatic aria shows traces of the long melodic line supported by simple but tellingly effective harmonies which are associated with Verdi's later style. This Act Five aria is sung by the heroine, Leonora. The third, a cavatina, "Porgi amor" from Mozart's "Le Nozze di Figaro" introduces the Countess in the second act.

The major symphonic work of the concert will be Anton Bruckner's Symphony no. 7 in E Major. With this symphony, Bruckner achieved the recognition for which he had so long striven.

Bank of America warns of punitive action against nation's universities

Punitive action against the nation's university system because of recent violence has been strongly opposed by Bank of America.

Defending academic freedom and the right of dissent, the bank also reaffirmed its support of the student community and in additional comments it characterized the Vietnam War as "distorting the economy and contributing substantially toward inflation."

The comments were part of a policy statement delivered by Bank of America President A.W. Clausen to the bank's annual meeting of shareholders in San Francisco.

"A troublesome factor," said Clausen, "is the tendency of many of our citizens to seek to punish the universities for the actions of the violent few. We believe punitive action against the university or repression of dissent is as dangerous as violence."

The public quarrel, he said, should be with those who would perpetrate violence for any cause, "whether it be violence in Isla Vista or violence in Lamar, South Carolina. Violence from either the right or the left cannot be tolerated in America."

Consumer Power

By Yvonne Earnst

Is "refunding" worth your time? Is earning $2 or $3 and hour, tax-free, worth your time? Difficult as it is to keep a completely accurate record of income and time spent on refunding, I did try to do it over a period of two months last year. And I found that I netted about $3 an hour.

Efficient use of time is required to accomplish that, though. Some methods to increase your efficiency have been covered in the previous few columns. Efficiency is really the key. Without a notebook, your efforts will become a jumble. Without a file, your boxtops will be a nuisance. So, spend a little extra time initially to set up a good system — and benefit from it for years.

Your expenses in refunding should be deducted when calculating your net earnings. Those would be the cost of refund publication subscriptions (one or two;) stamps, envelopes (buy in bulk) and any extra expenses incurred at the grocery store (when buying a premium-priced product for a refund rather than your usual lower-priced choice, deduct the difference in cost.)

Another optional expense would be service fees to refund form exchanges. Most refund offers are extended to any customer who buys the product. But, due to past abuse by some refunders, there are now some companies which require official refund forms.

These forms are either sent to grocers through the mail, or are distributed by salesmen. In some cases, companies intentionally restrict their distribution to certain areas where sales need a boost. Pillsbury usually uses this method.

Pillsbury recently offered a $2 refund for 3 of their cake mix tops plus 3 of their frosting mix tops — or $1 for the 3 cake mix tops alone. But the form had to accompany the proofs-of-purchase. There was no geographical restriction printed on the form; but they were, in fact, distributed only in areas where sales needed a boost. For refunders who lived outside those areas, the only way to obtain a form was through the form exchanges. Writing to the company, in this case, brought a polite answer — but no form.

Then Crest launched a generous $2 refund offer for either 3 or 4 Crest carton panels. You could have $1 of the refund without a special form, just for sending in the proofs-of-purchase and your name and address. But to get the $2 refund, you had to have the form.

In this case, geographical restrictions were quite specifically listed on the form. As soon as it closed in one area, it was announced in another area. It has not yet been announced in California, so save those Crest cartons — and tell your druggists and grocers that you are interested in forms for the campaign as soon as it is announced.

The refund publications deal, individually, in their editorial policies, with the problem of required forms. QuickSilver uses a new system of "stars" to indicate the chances of receiving a refund without a form. Since QuickSilver's editor has years of experience behind him, his judgments are respected. Firefly and Refund Reports specify whether or not a form is required, and then offer subscribers a form exchange service, fully explained in their publications.

Modern dance workshop at MPC

A modern dance workshop for intermediate and advanced students will be offered at Monterey Peninsula College for eight consecutive evenings starting April 16, the MPC community services office has announced.

Conducted by Sally Weidlein Demetry, the workshop will meet from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. each Monday in the dance studio in the gymnasium building on campus.

The workshop will feature intermediate-advanced modern dance technique and composition. The amount of time spent on dance skills, exploration of movement and creative expression, according to Mrs. Demetry, will be determined by the class.

Enrollment will be limited to 25 men and women from the age of 14 up with at least one year of modern dance experience or permission of the instructor. The registration fee of $10 should be mailed in advance to the community services office at MPC, 980 Fremont, Monterey.

A graduate of the University of California at Los Angeles, where she majored in dance, Mrs. Demetry has taught modern dance at Illinois State Normal University, Perry-Mansfield School of Theatre and Dance and Monterey High School and for San Jose State College Extension. She has conducted several workshops and is currently working with nursery school children in creative movement.

Short films to be shown at MPC

"Genesis II," a two-hour program of award-winning short films, will be shown Friday and Saturday, April 3 and 4, at 7 and 9 p.m. in Monterey Peninsula College's Lecture-Forum 103.

The four showings will feature a totally new collection of 16 student-made films gathered by Reginald G. Childs, a former UCLA student film-maker who, in 1968, recognized the need to find an outlet for student films and produced "Genesis I," which was shown at MPC in March.

Tickets, at $1.50 for general admission and $1 for students, are available afternoons at the MPC community services office in the administration building and will be sold at the door

Sears auto store

A full-blown ribbon-cutting event involving Mayor Sid Gadsby, other civic leaders and visiting Sears officials symbolized the grand-opening of a major automotive center adjacent to the Sears retail store in the Salinas Valley Center.

Store Manager Paul Beilstein said the new addition will consist of 7,670 square feet of basement storage and 7,180 square feet of ground-level service area. In addition, 3,200 square feet square feet will be devoted to an air-conditioned selling area which will stock a complete line of automotive parts.

"The new Auto Center will have 14 fully equipped st lls for servicing cars," Ron Burk, the Service Center Manager said.

Cancer drive to run April 1-7

The house-to-house Cancer Crusade, sponsored by the American Cancer Society, will begin on April 1 and run through April 7.

According to Charles Lunt Jr., Monterey Peninsula chairman for the drive, there is a special urgency to this year's drive due to federal cutbacks and inflation which have combined to curtain much research.

Applications from scientists for research grants have increased during the past year as breakthroughs become closer, yet available funds have shrunk.

"As in previous years, this will be a combined fund-raising and educational campaign," Lunt says. Every householder contacted will receive a life-saving message in exchange for his contribution to this truly great cause.

The American Cancer Society is the largest private source of funds for cancer research in the United States. In issuing this announcement of the coming Crusade, Lunt says that he feels it is important for people to know just what the American Cancer Society did in the state of California last year.

Retired group to hear Dr. Merrill

The American Association of Retired Persons will hear Dr. Keith Merrill of Monterey Peninsula College at its regular monthly meeting in the Community Room of the Monterey Public Library at 2 p.m. on March 31.

The local chapter of the association meets the last Tuesday of each month in the library. For the meeting of March 31 and Dr. Merrills presentation, the public, whether retired or not, is invited. A social hour will follow the meeting.

Siberia and Russia via Alaska

Exploration of Siberia and Russia via the new Alaska gateway may be the most intriguing travel adventure of the year!

All the way from Anchorage, this new westward movement for tourists backtracks on the route used by explorers and colonizers of Alaska 200 years ago.

It was known as "Russian America" long before its purchase by the United States in 1867.

Alaska Airlines' Golden Nugget charter flights will fly out the same chain of Aleutian Islands between which the Russians fought the treacherous Bering Sea in little hand-hewn sailboats.

Permission has recently been coordinated between the Russian government and American authorities for Alaska Airlines to take ten charter tour groups to the U.S.S.R. via the "back door," Siberia. The airline offers a choice of either an 8-day "Siberian Exploration" tour or 15-day "Russia and Siberia Comprehensive" tour of the many faces of the U.S.S.R.

During the tour's 3800-mile flight from Anchorage to Siberia, the mood is set with the new "Golden Samovar Service." Stewardesses in Russian tunics serve fine Russian foods and dispense the very special ambrosia "Bolshoi Golden Troika" from gleaming samovars, the treasured tea urn symbolic of gracious living in fine Soviet homes.

A highlight of the 8-hour flight will be crossing the International Dateline and following the sun into tomorrow. The charters will a land at Khabarovsk, Siberia. There, Aeroflot, the Soviet airlines, and Intourist, which handles all tourism in the U.S.S.R., join Alaska Airlines in showing guests the best of Russia.

The 8-day tour includes the Siberian cities of Khabarovsk, Irkutsk, Bratsk, and Lake Baikal.

The 15-day tour includes, besides the Siberian frontier, two entirely different faces of Russia. One is the fascinating European face, as found in Moscow and the optional tour cities: ancient Kiev and 18th century St. Petersburg (now Leningrad).

The exotic and Oriental face, sampled in visits to Samarkand and Tashkent, is a photographer's Central Asia "cup of tea," with graceful, colorful, domed architecture, assorted national dress, and Tamerlane's tomb.

The 8-day tour departures on June 20, July 25, August 29, and September 19. The 15-day tour departures June 6, June 27, July 11, August 1, August 15, and September 5. Both are priced from Anchorage, are "all-inclusive," deluxe, and escorted by an American guide as well as Intourist. For further information on these tours, the options, or possible stop-over tours, either coming or going, in Alaska, see your travel agent.

MAORI WARRIOR — The Maoris were the first settlers of New Zealand, and they have retained their vigor and many of their ancient customs. This warrior strikes a dramatic pose during a traditional performance of a native dance near Rotorua. From Kenneth Richter's "Discovering New Zealand" coming to Sunset Auditorium on April 2.

New Zealand is next stop in Explorama film series

"Discovering New Zealand" is a new two-hour color travel and adventure film that will be presented at Sunset Auditorium beginning at 8:15 p.m. Thursday, April 2.

The film, which is sponsored by the Explorer's Club of San Francisco, is a presentation of Explorama Travel-Adventure Series.

The new film was produced and photographed by Kenneth Richter, who will also appear in person at the various showings to narrate the program.

Richter spent six months on location in New Zealand during the production of the film, which is a human interest study of the people of New Zealand, using the fantastically beautiful scenic wonders of the country as a backdrop as he tells the story of the inhabitants of the country.

Highlights include the dramatic story of the Maoris and how they discovered New Zealand; the cultural center Auckland; a remote and beautiful high country sheep station; spectacular Milford sound; Rotorua, famed resort town; Queenstown; majestic Mount Cook; a thrilling ski plane flight; the University of Canterbury; Christchurch; the capital of Wellington; and the beautiful Marlboro Sound country. Reserved seat tickets are now available at all Macy's stores and Ticketron outlets, as well as Abinante Music Store in Monterey.

New telescope for Junipero Serra Mt.

The Regents of the University of California have given the green light to UC President Charles Hitch to solicit and accept funds of $5,119,000 jointly with the University of Wisconsin for the development of dark-sky astronomical observing facilities on Junipero Serra Peak in Monterey County, an 80-acre mountain summit located in the Coast Range 25 miles southeast of the Big Sur area and 15 miles west of King City.

The joint venture includes the construction and subsequent operation of a 90-inch telescope and related facilities on the proposed astronomical site.

New American-Scandinavian club meeting

The second meeting of the newly formed Monterey Chapter of the American-Scandinavian Foundation was held at the U.S. Naval Postgraduate School March 1 with 91 enthusiastic people of Scandinavian origin or interests in attendance.

Since the purpose and work of the 60-year old Foundation is virtually unknown in this area, Dr. Loftur Bjarnason and Mrs. John P. Beahan again presented information about the cultural and educational objectives of the American-Scandinavian Foundation through exchange fellowships, scholarships and traineeships.

Since the group is in the formative stage, a 15-member Governing Board was chosen for a 6 month term to enable members to become better acquainted before a September election is held.

Plans were formulated for a program of Norwegian slides to be presented by Miss Ann Hazen of Carmel at the April 5 meeting to be held at 7:30 p.m. at La Novia Room, Naval Postgraduate School.

Anyone interested in joining the Chapter may write the American-Scandinavian Foundation, Box 4734, Carmel, or call Mrs. John P. Beahan, (624-2838) or Dr. Loftur Bjarnason, (372-1656).

It has been estimated that thefts of supermarket carts total about $15 million a year.

Small Wonder Leitz 6x24 Trinovid

Unmatched Viewing Pleasure In A Miniature Binocular
From the makers of the world-famous Leica Camera comes the unbelievably tiny Trinovid 6 x 24. Its field of view is truly panoramic. 212 yards wide at a distance of 1000 yards — the widest wide-angle binocular manufactured today. This tiny glass weighs but 15½ oz., yet offers a six-times magnification in a palm-sized binocular only 3¾ inches long. These unusually compact glasses can be slipped into a pocket or handbag causing hardly a bulge, yet they offer power and brilliance of far larger and heavier glasses. The Trinovid 6 x 24 is rugged enough for the opening day of the hunting season, smart enough for the opening night at the opera. A man's glass—and his lady's. Look into a 6 x 24 Trinovid.

SOCIAL SECURITY AND YOU

by Raymond MacDonald

Q. I will be spending the summer with my grandchildren in New York. If I must see a doctor while I am there, should I file my Medicare claim with California Blue Shield:

A. No. All Medicare bills and claims are processed in the State in which services are rendered. California Blue Shield is only one of many Medicare carriers selected by the Social Security Administration to process Medicare claims. Please consult "Your Medicare Handbook" for the name and address of the appropriate Medicare carrier for New York. Or you may call the local Social Security office.

Q. My purse was stolen with my Medicare card in it. Do I need to get a new card?

A. Yes. You should contact your Social Security office as soon as possible. The people there will get you a new one. Your health insurance card lets people at the doctor's office or hospital know whether you have hospital and medical insurance, and contains your Medicare claim number. Therefore, you should always have your card with you when you receive Medical services.

Q. I am a bachelor and will be 65 in June. I have no Social Security credits. Will I be eligible for Medicare?

A. You will be eligible to enroll in the voluntary doctor bill insurance part of Medicare, but you will not be eligible for the basic hospital insurance. The hospital insurance part of the Medicare program is financed out of Social Security tax contributions and people who reach 65 after 1967 need credit for a certain amount of work covered under Social Security to have hospital insurance. A person 65 this year needs credit for 9 calendar quarters of work — about 2-1/4 years — to be eligible for hospital insurance.

Q. I will be 72 in August. I am not now receiving Social Security because I have never worked or paid Social Security contributions. Will I be eligible for Social Security at 72?

A. No, a person who reaches 72 this year needs Social Security credit for at least 9 calendar quarters — about 2-1/4 years — to receive the special age 72 benefits.

Q. If I am injured while at work and my medical expenses are, or could be, covered by the Workman's Compensation law, will Medicare also pay?

A. No. Medicare cannot pay for services covered under any other Federal, State, or local government programs.

(Mail your questions to Social Security, c/o the Carmel Pine Cone, Carmel, or phone Social Security office 373-3351)

Baha'i New Year outing at Big Sur

Carmel's Baha'i community joined with others of their faith on the Monterey Peninsula to observe Naw-Ruz, Baha'i New Year, with an all-day outing at Big Sur on Mar. 21.

A 19-day period of fasting from sunrise to sunset, which preceeded Naw-Ruz, officially ended the evening before, and was marked by the Carmel Baha'is by a spiritual feast at the home of Mrs. Nell Applegate of Carmel.

Naw-Ruz coincides with the vernal equinox, the advent of spring, on the Baha'i calendar of 19 months, each 19 days long, explained Laura Smithson, secretary of the Carmel Baha'i community.

Renewal Service at Basilica

The Mission Basilica in Carmel will hold a Parish Mission or Christian Renewal Program beginning on Sunday, Apr. 5, and closing on Sunday, Apr. 26.

Highlighting the Renewal will be a series of talks by the Reverend Edward J. McDonald, C.S.P., of San Francisco, at all the Masses for the four Sundays. During the weekdays he will conduct Masses and discussions in homes throughout the parish.

To foster ecumenism, host-families will be expected to invite non-Catholics as well as Catholic parishioners to home gatherings.

Father McDonald is Mission Director for the Paulist Fathers in California. A native of Rhode Island, he has served in parishes throughout the United States and Canada, and in the United States Air Force. In recent years he has been conducting Christian Renewal Programs at home and abroad.

Witness to meet

Joe Pakan, presiding minister of the Pacific Grove Congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses, reported that an organizational meeting was held recently in connection with a three-day circuit assembly to be held in Santa Cruz Apr. 17-19.

Members of 16 congregations from the Central Coast area will attend the assembly. The climax of the gathering will be the public Bible discourse by Lyle Elvern Reusch, Central California District Supervisor for Jehovah's Witnesses.

In 1851, the first whaling station in California was established at Monterey.

Christian Science Bible Lesson

The differences between material theories and spiritual values are brought out in the Lesson-Sermon on "Reality," to be read in all Christian Science churches this Sunday.

A Bible passage in the Responsive Reading is from Colossians: "Beware lest any man spoil you through philosophy and vain deceit, after the tradition of men, after the rudiments of the world, and not after Christ."

One of the selections from Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures by Mary Baker Eddy states: "When understanding changes the standpoints of life and intelligency from a material to a spiritual basis, we shall gain the reality of Life, the control of Soul over sense, and we shall perceive Christianity, or Truth, in its diving Principle" (p. 322).

The public is welcome to attend services starting at 11 a.m. and 5 p.m. at First Church of Christ Scientist.

Maundy Thursday at Wayfarer

Maundy Thursday will be observed in The Church of The Wayfarer, Carmel, with the Sacrament of Holy Communion in the Little Chapel at 4 and 7:30 p.m.

Christian Science Radio Program

An Easter program will be broadcast next Sunday in the Christian Science radio series "The Bible Speaks to You." The program called "Easter and Forgiveness" will be broadcast over stations KGO at 7:15, KRML, at 7:45 and KDON at 8:45.

HOLY FAMILY — The outstanding performances of Betty Fowlston as Mary, Mother of Jesus, and Andrew Dowd as Judah, the youngest son of the Family feature the current Easter production of "Family Portrait" now playing at the Circle Theater.

NOWAT STEINBECK — Genevieve Bujold is queen of England and Richard Burton is King Henry VIII in the robust historical drama, Hal Wallis' production of "Anne of the Thousand Days," a Universal picture photographed in Technicolor and Panavision. Both stars were nominated for Academy Awards for their roles in the film.

'Family Portrait' is Circle Theater Easter gift to Peninsula residents

As its Easter gift to the Peninsula, the Circle Theater is presenting "Family Portrait," a timeless account of the family of Jesus, especially meaningful in today's troubled world.

The play is centered around the family of Jesus during the last three years of His life. It is skillfully directed by Michael Keller. In accordance with the wishes of the authors, Leonore Coffee and William Joyce Cowen, the cast wears peasant clothing of the Middle Ages to give the story a contemporary flavor and by presenting the family of Jesus as real people with real conflicts.

An effective way to judge the merits of a play is to listen to audience reaction at intermission. Those who attended "Family Portrait" on opening night spoke enthusiastically of the production and the name that was on everyone's lips was Betty Fowlston, who gave an elegant performance as Mary, the mother of Jesus. Mary's warmth and graciousness provided inspiration and hope to a family torn by bewilderment and doubt.

Gertrude Chappell, as Mary's sister-in-law Mary Cleophas, combined compassion and a brittle sense of humor with a fierce loyalty to the family of Jesus as she defended them against the verbal attacks of unbelievers in Nazareth.

Jesus' four brothers, Judah, James, Joseph and Simon attempt in vain to persuade Him to give up His ministry. Judah is portrayed by Andy Dowd, who gives an intense and appealing portrayal of the youngest brother, whose marriage plans are upset because of Jesus' unorthodox teachings.

Peter J. Lynn as James, is the personification of the Pharisee. He is scrupulous in fasting and meditating but violent in the condemnation of his brother's teachings. Joseph and Simon, played by William Q. Weiss and Richard Vernon try in vain to induce Jesus to resume His profession of carpentry and then cast lots over His tool box when it becomes apparent that He will not return.

Memorable performances are given by Peg Heater, the fiery owner of the wineshop in Capernaum; Bob Lotz as a customer at the shop who plans to hire Jesus as an attraction in his town; H. Andrew Erwin as the devoted but weak willed disciple, Judas, and Layne Littlepage who plays Mary Magdalen with eloquence and quiet dignity.

Other individuals whose lives are influenced by the mission of Jesus are Mordecai, played by John Doolittle, who pleads in vain for the borthers to enlist Jesus' aid in building his barn, Hepzibah (Kay Walter) and Anna (Colleen Lingenfelter,) as neighbors of the family whose friendship goes sour when Jesus fails to become an honored teacher.

Milton Hayes as Rabbi Samuel and Raymond B. Greene as Mendel, the marriage broker, plead with Mary to disown Jesus for the sake of Judah's upcoming marriage. G. Martin Iversen as Nathan portrays the propriator of the upper room where the Last Supper was held.

"Family Portrait" will play during Holy Week with a matinee on Easter Sunday. The schedule is as follows: Mar. 20 and 21 at 8:30 p.m. Sunday Mar. 22 at 7:30 p.m.Wednesday through Saturday, Mar. 25 through 28 at 8:30 p.m., Easter Sunday, Mar. 29, a special matinee performance at 2:30 p.m.

Don't miss this simple, eloquent and reverent picture of the family of Jesus.

Dining Out at....Rippling River Resort

....with Virjy Shepley

If you want the lightest huge popovers served piping hot, so crustily brown straight from the oven, head for Carmel Valley some morning.

Drive on until you pass the village and turn in at Rippling River Resort. From 10 a.m. until 3 p.m., a sumptuous brunch is served. Besides the heavenly popovers, which keep the bread baskets asking for more (and are speedily refilled) there are homemade strawberry preserves with plenty of butter pats. Eggs are the freshest of Carmel Valley Ranch ones.

Another beautiful experience is the Rippling River fruit bowl consisting of half a fresh pineapple, scooped out and replete with fresh fruits: orange sections, grapefruit too, pineapple pieces, large strawberries with mint leaves. All chilled and most appealing as an accompaniment to the following dishes, served hot and without being kept waiting. Everything is strictly on order. There are libations too.

The Eggs Benedict (poached eggs on grilled ham covered with a rich hollandaise sauce) were the best we've come across. We can vouch for the Eggs Florentine (poached eggs on a creamy spinach souffle) as our companion exclaimed with pleasure.

Another delighted gourmet at our table chose the Thick Sliced Grilled Ham with sauteed green peppers, pineapple and golden hominy. There are also any combination of 3 egg omelettes with the exotic pineapple fruit bowl, splendid coffee and other generous offerings at reasonable rates.

These beautiful spring days with fruit trees blossoming is just the right setting for Sunday brunch. Overflow guests are seated at tables on the terrace. The surrounding mountains add to an enchanting view.

There is a warm cheerful atmosphere no matter what the time of year. This is due to Virginia De Maria's energetic yet composed supervision. Petite blue-eyed Virginia who was water ski champion of Washington State, now turns her talents to managing this popular resort with her husband.

Virginia gave us her recipe for a wonderful homemade bread made with the walnuts growing on the estate's prolific trees. Exclusively for The Pine Cone here is Virginia's

R R R Nut Bread

Two cups milk, scalded; 4 T. sugar; 2 T. salt; 1/4 cup melted butter; 6 cups flour to make soft dough; 2 T. (pkg) dry yeast dissolved in 1/2 cup warm water; 1 cup coarsley walnuts.

In bowl make batter of milk, sugar, melted butter, yeast and 2 cups flour. Let stand 20 minutes, then stir in balance of flour to make soft dough. Knead until satiny. Makes two large loaves. Let rise until more than doubled. Bake at 375 to 400 F. for about 45 minutes, or until done.

Every night excepting Monday superb dinners are served. We haven't dined there as yet but hope to soon. In the meantime we're perusing the dinner menu which Virginia gave us with a cordial invitation to return.

Dinners at R R R

Dinners include "assorted relish dish, soup du jour in tureen, our own homemade bread, tossed green salad with choice of dressings, fresh Carmel Valley vegetables, choice of potatoes."

The entrees sound, and we're sure taste just as good; a few samples are: "Tender broiled New York Beef Steak; Beef Brochette: cubes of tender beef en brochette serving flaming on a bed of rice pilaf; N.Y. Steak Sandwich, served with our own homemade onion bread; Chicken d'Manuel with fresh mushrooms, pineapple chunks, green pepper and a delicate curry and ginger sauce; Deep Fried Prawns; Broiled Lobster Tails with drawn butter."

Desserts are homemade Walnut Pie with or without vanilla ice cream and fruit ices. We shall return pronto. For reservations, telephone 659-4763.

PARTY PLANS . . .

by Phyllis Jervey

"Easter in New Zealand"

With the advent of both Easter and a new Explorama film appearing in Carmel about the same time, we're combining both and telling you how Easter in exciting New Zealand is observed.

On April 2 at the Sunset Center in Carmel "Discovering New Zealand" will be narrated in person by Kenneth Richter at 8:15 p.m. This fascinating view of New Zealand should encourage you to serve something different but delicious for Easter dinner this year.

We went on a discovery tour food-wise to give you the following facts. As in Australia, mutton is popular. "Party Plans" gave many recipes for American milk-fed spring lamb recently. Now we'll tell you that New Zealand frozen lamb, or mutton, as the British Islanders call their favorite meat, is exported. Sold at local super markets, it is less expensive than our lamb. And it is very good when prepared like the New Zealanders do. There the English-speaking people call what amounts to their "national" dish

Colonial Goose

One leg of mutton (8 lbs.); 1/2 t. salt; 1/4 t. pepper; 1 T. flour; 2 t. vegetable oil; 1 to 2 cups water.

Thaw the New Zealand or Australian mutton at room temp. Bone leg or ask your meat man to do so, being careful to leave it intact. Make stuffing from these items:

Stuffing: 1 cup lean cooked ham, minced; 1 large onion parboiled and minced; 1½ cup bread crumbs; 1/2 cup suet, minced; 2 T. softened butter; 1 t. salt; 1/4 t. pepper; 1 T. parsley, chopped; 1½ t. thyme, chopped; 1 t. crumbled sage; 1 T. milk; 1 egg, beaten.

Mix ham and onion with rest, stirring in milk and egg beaten together. Fill boned meat with this. Sew up opening or use skewers. Season all over with sale and pepper and dredge in flour. Heat oil in roasting pan, put mutton therein and roast in 450 F. oven, uncovered.

Base semi-occasionally by adding a little water at a time. Test with fork for tenderness.

Most New Zealanders like their mutton pink inside and crisply brown on the outside. About 20 min. per lb. should do the trick nicely. Do not thicken juices. Serves 6 with leftovers for tomorrow's curry, traditional with colonial Britishers.

Kumeras, a type of native sweet potato, is peeled and roasted with the mutton. Kumi kumi is something like pumpkin and is also roasted as we do squash. They make an unusual salad from rauiki, a green leaf of the milkweed family, but we could use watercress, tossed with oil and lemon juice.

Fresh fruits grow in great profusion and a clever combine is made with papaya, fresh pineapple, grapes with honey and lime juice. Well chilled and sprinkled with freshly grated ginger and nutmeg or mace (outside of nutmeg) it is simple yet exotic.

There is a good canned tropical fruit cocktail, salad or dessert assortment in our groceries here. Spark it the way they do "down under" and accompany with coconut macaroons. Ale and beer are the preferred beverages, plus tea.

New Zealand Curried Specialty

Three cups cubed roast of lamb or mutton; 2 garlic cloves, minced; 4 large onions, sliced; 3/4 cup butter; 4 small green apples, pared, chopped; 4 T. best fresh curry powder or to taste; 1 cup drained pineapple chunks (canned or fresh); 4 T. sultana raisins; 2 T. Worcestershire sauce; 2 lemons, sliced; 4 T. shredded coconut; fresh or canned; 1 t. grated fresh lime peel; salt and white pepper to taste; 1 pinch saffron or tumeric; 1 large firm banana, sliced; fluffy cooked white rice.

In large skillet, saute garlic and onions in butter until golden. Add meat with apples and curry powder. Simmer and stir. Add rest of items with 2 cups water. Bring to gentle simmer. Cook 35 min. Serve on hot rice. Should be enough for six. Do not mash apples or banana. What a superb flavor! Chutney is a must with cucumber slices in yoghurt as side dishes, plus chopped hard cooked eggs.

A good way to prepare uncooked lamb-mutton, a la New Zealand-Australia is:

Lamb Patties with Mustard Sauce

2 lbs. ground uncooked lamb; salt, pepper, 2 beaten eggs. Shape into 6 patties. Melt 3 T. butter; add 3 T. flour, blending into a light brown base. Gradually add 1 cup milk with 2 T. powdered English mustard, or to taste. Those islanders like fiery flavor. Cook over low flame, stir until a nice smooth sauce is formed. Keep over hot water. Broil lamb patties about 4 inches from source of heat on each side until desired degree of doneness. Serve with hot mustard sauce and pelnty of cold ale or beer.

Now for a "lovely as Springtime" finale to top off the New Zealand inspired dessert. This should be as substantial as a cloud yet an easy-make-ahead recipe. "Tipsy Parson" will delight everyone from guests to cook-hostess.

Tipsy Parson

One pkg. lady fingers (12); 1/2 cup raspberry jam; 1 cup dry sherry; firm custard, chilled; 1 cup whipping cream; handfull slivered toasted almonds; freshly grated nutmeg.

Split lady fingers; put together sandwich fashion with jam. Arrange in single layer in round dish. Soak with wine. Pour custard over (given below). Chill until ready to serve. Unmold onto pretty dish. Serve with wafers.

Firm Custard

One and a half cups milk; 3 T. sugar; dash of salt; 4 egg yolks, slightly beaten with silver fork; vanilla extract to taste; 2 T. gelatine, dissolved.

Scald milk; add sugar and salt; add dissolved gelatine with heated, never boiled, milk mixed into yolks. Cook gently in double boiler until mixture coats spoon. Stir in vanilla. Chill. Pass whipped cream mixed with toasted almonds and grated nutmeg at table, kept refrigerated overnight. In this way, would-be calorie conscious "cake eaters" can use their own judgement. This same dessert is known as Tipsy Squire and can be made with pound cake soaked in whiskey, port, madeira or brandy.

UNIQUE DISPLAY — Dan Carlin, manager of the Monterey office of American Savings and Loan Association, 499 Alvarado St., admires the beauty of Carmel artist Ursula Swigart's pressed wildflower display at his office. The exhibit consists of small framed pictures made from pressed land and sea plants gathered on the Monterey Peninsula. Mrs. Swigart learned the art from her father, Max Tuch, a nature lover who pressed flowers as a young man in Germany. One of the framed pressed flowers on display was picked by Tuch from the German Alps in 1880. The exhibit at American Savings is open to the public and will remain until April 9.

PLANNING SESSION — Emily Halliday, left, and Amy Erickson, students at All Saints' Episcopal Day School in Carmel Valley discuss plans for the 1970 Garden Fair sponsored by the school. Against a background of Carmel's La Playa Hotel, where the annual event will be held, the girls talk over arrangements for the displays and exhibitions of plants, arts, crafts and tools, all of which will be for sale to benefit the Day School scholarship fund. The Garden Fair begins at 10 a.m., May 2, and continues until 5 p.m.

Girl Scouts Bicentennial parade set for April 18

Monterey Peninsula Girl Scouts and leaders are completing plans for the Bicentennial Girl Scout California Panorama parade and program to be held April 18.

The parade will form at the Monterey High football field, proceed down Jefferson Street to Calle Principal, and then on to the Custom House Plaza for the afternoon program. The parade will begin at 12:30 p.m.

The afternoon program will include costuming, songs, dances, skits, and craft demonstration. Each peninsula city is concentrating on just one part of history so that the program will run in historical sequence.

Fort Ord has the Indian era, 1500-1542; Marina has the explorer era, 1542-1769; Carmel has the padres and soldiers era, 1769-1774; Seaside and Del Rey Oaks have the Spanish settlers era, 1774-1810; Monterey has the Mexican settlers era, 1810-1846; and Pacific Grove has the American settlers and the Victorian era, 1846-1910.

FINISHING TOUCH — Miss Irene Lagorio, Carmel artist who is presently showing an exhibit of her paintings at the Irving Lundborg Company Carmel office, puts the finishing touches on an American eagle, a species declared near extinction. Miss Lagorio is doing a series of paintings on endangered species of American wildlife. Her present exhibit at Lundborg's is a representative cross section of her work.

Big Sur exhibit

The gallery is located three miles south of Nepenthe on the coast route

The exhibit will run until Apr. 3.

Dolphin Movie

Bob Blaisdell of Carmel and Mendelsohn Film Productions of Burlingame have filmed a study of unexplained phenomena of the natural world entitled, "The Unexplained."

One of the items filmed by Blaisdell was a study of the work of Dr. Colin Taylor who has been investigating the language of dolphins.

The program will be aired Friday, Apr. 3 at 7:30 p.m.

A cubic mile of sea water contains about $93 million in gold.

History groups to ask Jolon site for archeology study

The newly formed San Antonio Valley Historical Association, with the Monterey History and Art Association and Monterey Peninsula College, has asked the Secretary of the Interior to set aside, under the federal Historical Sites Act, the Dutton Hotel and adjacent land near Jolon for historical purposes, Stephen James, archeological consultant at MPC, has announced.

In addition, the group has asked for permission to make "extensive and comprehensive" archaeological investigation of various Center California Indian habitation sites in the Hunter-Liggett area.

The project is to be financed by the donation of funds from "interested and concerned" citizens.

Further information may be obtained from James at MPC or from Al Davis in the Naval Postgraduate School electrical engineering department.

Studio Theater sets 'Any Wednesday' for April 3

The next attraction at the Studio Theatre-Restaurant in Carmel is "Any Wednesday," opening April 3. The Muriel Resnik comedy deals with the millionaire president of a modern conglomerate, his disarmingly innocent mistress, his hoodwinked wife and an irate young man protesting a corporate maneuver that will close his business.

The four are thrown together when the wife visits the executive suite where the mistress has been installed on a tax-deductible basis, finds her in company with the angry young man who has been directed there by mistake and, on the assumption they are an attractive married couple, hospitably invites them to dinner with her husband.

Their response in going along with the pretense, the tycoon's consternation when the dinner party assembles, the wife's ultimate disillusionment and the surprise ending make for what one reviewer called "a neat, nice and awfully funny comedy" that ran nearly 1,000 performances on Broadway.

Sandy Dennis scored her first big hit as the mistress and the subsequent movie starred Jane Fonda, Jason Robards and Dean Jones.

Under the direction of Bill Asp, "Any Wednesday" will play Friday, Saturday and Sunday nights at the Studio for six weekends.

'Adobes' art show

The Bicentennial "Historic Adobes" art show and wine tasting party will be held Apr. 12 at the Monterey Women's Civic Club, 540 Calle Principal.

20 paintings have been contributed by local artists, and there will be a door prize painting by Hans Skaalegaard.

Tickets may be secured by calling 373-4347. The artwork, which will include paintings by Edward Norton Ward, Shirley Holt and Jenne Bellmer, will be on public display at the club from 5-7 p.m. with the artists in attendance.

With Bob Wood In Sacramento

March 20, 1970

I doubt if there was ever an incumbent that has been elected to a public office who looked forward with anticipation to an upcoming election.

However, I must be honest with myself, and with you, for it is through this democratic procedure that an elected official (including your Assemblyman) is kept on his toes. Elections require time, a considerable amount of work on the part of many people, and in most cases some financial backing by the interested citizenry. I get to thinking that the time I will have to spend in campaigning could be better spent in working toward improved legislation and where needed, new legislation, but when we look at the whole procedure in a broad spectrum I realize that election results to a public representative such as myself is somewhat similar to a report card to a school student.

It is only by these returns do we know if we are doing our job satisfactory to the majority of the people represented. If an incumbent fails in this periodic testing he or she is removed from office and this is the way it should be.

If I am not representing the thinking of the majority of the people regardless of political affiliations I have no right to be here in Sacramento nor would I care to be.

Even though elections are somewhat tiring to a condidate I am sure the competition created by the filing of several condidates in any election is a good thing for the people and after all we represent the people, and only the people.

We all know this is the year of ecology and environment and it may well be that the measures now being presented stand a better chance of successful passage. There is no doubt need for strong legislation in the area of litter alone. Forty-eight billion cans and 28 billion bottles are discarded annually in the United States, and figures show there are ten million thrown away each day in California.

One has only to drive up the beautiful Carmel Valley road and continue on over the mountains and drop down into the equally beautiful Arroyo Seco Canyon to Highway 101 to see that we in Monterey County have our share of roadside litter.

It is a statistical fact that 80 per cent of the litter defacing our parks, our beaches and our highways is in the form of non- disposal cans or bottles. The waste of taxpayers money to clean up the litter along the highways is a whopping $5 million in a year.

I am sure most of us wish that the citizenry would take enough pride in our beautiful country that they would not want to detract from its beauty by discarding litter along our highways. But to date this has not been the case and something is going to have to be done and immediately.

One major soft drink manufacturer has indicated they might have a possible break through on the scientific development of the self-destructing pop bottle. After a certain amount of time, claims the manufacturer, the chemical make-up of the empty bottle would react to the atmosphere or soil and literally disintegrate.

The proposals for legislation past and present are many and varied. In any event, the year of ecology may provide a solution to this monumental unslightly problem which I am sure no man is proud of.

Enuf for now.

Librarian's Notebook

By Ruth Galvin Thornburg, City Librarian

Peter Beagle, who did that lovely book The Last Unicorn has done the text for a book entitled The California Feeling. The pictures are very good indeed and the writing is easy and sympathetic, except when dealing with Carmel.

Only one paragraph for Carmel and in it he says he never liked this town very much and it is too expensive to live here, or words to that effect. He says there are no poor people in Carmel. He speaks very understandingly of hippies everywhere, so perhaps we should say that Carmel hippies are just as poor as hippies anywhere else. We can refuse to take a back seat as far as hippies go!

The After-Dinner Gardening Book by Richard Langer might be of greater value in an area where the climate is not as agreeable as it is here. Gardening goes on all year long around here.

But people who are pretty much confined to a house and patio should find this book delightful. The author lived in New York and quite by accident he discarded a couple of lemon seeds in a pot of begonias his wife was raising. The lemon seeds sprouted. Thus he was started upon a gardening hobby which proved so interesting that he soon had the entire apartment crowded with growing things, most of which he started from pits, seeds, and roots he found around the house.

Illustrations in the book are clear and show plainly what can be accomplished with a hobby such as this one.

Commonsense Childbirth was written by Lester Hazell, and in this case Lester is the name of a woman. The Hazells lived around here for a while, but now live in Berkeley.

Mrs. Hazell had her first child in a hospital and the birth was under anesthesia. She did not like many things which happened to her in the course of this experience and resolved to have any later children at home and without anesthesia. Her methods seem to have been successful with her own self. Readers must judge for themselves whether or not they wish to follow her example.

There are three new biographies — well, to tell the truth one of them is a sort of biography — and we should briefly mention all three.

The first was written by William Burrows and entitled Richthofen. It is the life story of Baron Manfred von Richthofen, the great flying ace of the first World War. How brave and how foolhardy were those young men who went up to fight in those fragile crates of wood and canvas.

The second biography is entitled The Lion of the Lord. Written by Stanley Hirshson, it is the life story of Brigham Young, illustrated with photographs. This is the story of the community of the Saints, and a most interesting one it is.

The third biography is only partly so because the action covers only one year in the life of Eugene J. McCarthy. It is his own story and he called it The Year of the People. Senator McCarthy tried to run a campaign on issues rather than on personalities. He lost.

A Taste of Ireland is by Theodora FitzGibbon and is a combination of nostalgic photographs and Irish recipes, some of the latter dating back to 1778. That must have been a bad year for the Irish because these older recipes do be sounding greasy and unappetising, Oh-Boy-Oh.

So much for books!

The Competition was held at Alisal High School Feb. 28. Schools from as far as San Jose entered their various squads of majoettes, songleaders, flag firls, drum majors and cheerleaders.

The Carmel cheerleaders placed fourth in their division of 13 squads.

Further competitions are scheduled, and the girls are looking forward to them with eager anticipation.

Basketball Queen

Basketball season reached its climax at the Annual Carmel Invitational Tournament March 5-7.

Reigning over the exciting contest was Tournament Queen Linda Frincke, accompanied by first attendant Nanci Brewster and second attendant Sue Harbert. At the conclusion of the Tournament the outstanding players were awarded trophies and a kiss by the Queen and her attendants.

Wrestling Banquet

The Winter Pot Luck Banquet for the Wrestling Team was held in the High School cafeteria Wednesday Feb. 25.

Twelve varsity letters were awarded: Dave Eagling, Sandy Sanford, Jim Arnn, Buck Patton, Nick Beardsley, Tom Sanford, Joe Carter, Pat Norman, Jim D'Orazi, Lance Lighthall, Bill Conlan and Homer Lighthall.

Special recognition was given to the following for second place in the MTAL Championship Tournament: Joe Carter, Tom Sanford, Lance Lighthall. Pat Norman was the only man on the Carmel Team to be awarded a first place at the MTAL Championship Tournament.

The honorary team captains for the JV Team were Nick Beardsley and Chuck Davies; for the Varsity was Pat Norman.

The team was assisted all year by Reverent "Art" Cunningham as Assistant Coach and the Student Officials were Barbara Ward, Judy Ale and Randy Curtis. Coach Bob Walthour, as a first year wrestling coach, brought the team a long way.

Padres End Cage Season

The Carmel High basketball season came to a close March 19 with an awards banquet given by the Carmel Boosters Club in the school cafeteria.

Graig Dickinson was named Most Valuable Player for the Junior varsity. Tony Lucido and Jerry Argust tied for Most Valuable Player for the Freshman.

Carmel varsity had a disappointing season with 4-10 MTAL record. Senior Jeff Canepa had a 15-points-a-game average. Jeff came into his own the last 5 games showing great skill on rebounding, open court shooting and defense. Jeff should go on to a fine college cage career.

High Lights of Coach Dick Charles and the Padres were wins over league champions Palma. And Monterey High in Carmel High's 23rd annual Invitational tournament. Monterey was the tournament favorite, Carmel won 58-56 Padre Pete Shaw scored the last two points with just two seconds left in the ball game. A sensational team effort.

Carmel lost the final game of the tournament to North Salinas and placed second. Jim Conlan and Kevin Cunningham won a place on the All Tournament Team, both are Juniors and Guards for the Padres.

The Music Scene

by Rachel Morton

"The Creation"

"The Creation," an oratorio by Haydn was given a very fine performance Sunday afternoon at King's Hall, Naval Postgraduate School, by the combined forces of the Monterey Peninsula Choral Society and the Monterey County Chamber Orchestra with Haymo Taeuber conducting.

The guest artists were Norma Jean Hodges, soprano, James Schwabacher, tenor and James Tippey, bass.

Once again we were made aware of the great talent of our Symphony conductor who held all forces under a compelling and authoritative hand. The chorus singing was especially fine. In he big climaxes there was volume without loss of tonal beauty (a rare feat.) And there were unusual effects in the build-ups from soft to loud. We may be proud of this excellent 90-voiced chorus.

Also noteworthy was the playing of the Monterey Peninsula Chamber Orchestra. There was real humor as they played the "roar of the lion;" "the leap of the tiger;" "the bleating of the flocks" and "the whir of swarms of insects." "The long dimension creep of the worn," ending in a very low note from the basso was mirth-provoking.

James Tippey, possessed of an unusually beautiful voice, made his every contribution a thing of joy. He sang with deep insight, fine musicianship and perfect diction. Notable was his declamative and dramatic singing of "How Furious Storms Tempestuous Rage." No less praiseworthy were his pianissimo phrases as he sang "Softly Purling glides the limpid brook." In the beautiful recitative "And God Created," his limpid and florid tone showed excellent vocal production. Here, too, the orchestral accompaniment was particularly fine.

Norma Jean Hodges' high soprano voice soared above chorus and orchestra in brilliant tone. Her musicianship was impeccable and must be a joy to a conductor. The famous Air "With Verdure Clad" was delightfully sung and her duet with Adam, the bass, was tenderly moving.

In many appearances on the peninsula with the Bach Festival, the tenor voice of James Schwabacher is well-known and admired. An astute musician, he commanded easily the music and gave authority to what he sang.

The chorus singing was jubilant indeed in "The Heavens are Telling." Tremendous was the chorus, orchestra and soloists in the grand climax "Praise the Lord, Magnify His Name," a fitting ending to an inspired performance.

Francesco Trio

The Francesco Trio, made up of musicians well-known on the peninsula; David Abel, violinist; Bonnie Hampton, cellist and Nathan Schwartz, pianist was presented in a program at Sunset Auditorim Saturday night by the Monterey Peninsula Chamber Music Society. The light, airy almost playful music of Haydn's Trio in E major which opened the program did not acquaint us with the real artistry of these players. Throughout, the piano predominated. It was pleasant fare, if not too impressive.

In a Sonata in F minor for violin and piano by Prokofiev we got to know the technical adroitness and fine musicianship of these two artists. The pianist began the Andante Assai in deep, sonorous tones of foreboding which was realized in the Allegro Brusco. Here there seemed to be an exploitation and rivalry between the violing and piano in fantastic and demanding music; the while they hammered away mercilessly. Fireworks began the Allegrissimo with music of great impact. The whizzing and whirring of the plucked upper strings gave a weird effect. After the marathon feat of the two musicians it was refreshing to hear the lovely communion between the two in the quiet Finale.

In Mendelssohn's Trio in D minor the cellist came into here own in the opening Molto Allegro with warm, vibrant tone. The piano set the mood in the quiet melody of the Andante, reiterated by the cello and violin — exquisite music, played with deep sensitivity. The Scherzo, played with agility and lightness, with zephyr touch at times, reminded me of the famous Scherzo in Mendelssohn's Midsummer Night's Dream. With tumbling cascades of runs and arpeggios, the Finale spun to a joyous finish. The artists were warmly applauded and after several bows gave as an encore a Scherzo by Ives.

Masselos

A little man with a terrific temperament and a great talent, William Masselos, pianist, was presented by the Carmel Music Society in Sunset Auditorium Thursday night. A graduate of the Juillard School of Music in New York, Masselos studied with the late Carl Friedberg and has won acclaim in America and Europe. Not since the days of the pianist William Kapell, have I heard such exciting virtuosity and masterful playing.

In the 18 sketches of Robert Schumann's "Davidsbundlertanze," Ap. 6, which opened the program, the kaleidoscopic talent of the artist was revealed. He seemed not concerned with technique at all, but exuded color, fire, brilliance and power. He could be poetic, too, and his quiet moods cast a spell over the audience. Each sketch had its own definite and stirring portrayal. It was Schumann at his noblest as interpreted by Masselos.

After the first intermission came the antithesis of the Schumann music in a performance of Charles Ives "First Piano Sonata," four movements of which were played. (There were five listed.) Although the artist displayed great pianistic power and times sensitive gradations of tone, still, with the bombastic vagaries of Ives music and with only brief moments of repose, one could only feel the moods of a tormented composer. The "Study in Rag" was jazz at its frenziest! But the audience seemed to like it.

As if to antidote the barbaric music of Ives, Masselos added to the final group four Scarlatti Etudes, played with finger fleetness and delicacy of touch.

The tour de force of the evening came with the overwhelming performance of the Sonata in B Minor by Franz Liszt. With crashing tone this giant performer hued out thunderous climaxes, one greater than the other, with technique which dazzled. And yet how tender were the soliloquies, how whiperingly quiet the pianissimos, how deep down the soul of the music. It was a performance rarely to be heard and one long to be remembered.

Three whimsical "snatches" from Satie's "Spirits and Diversions" were given as encores.

(If printed numbers on a program must be changed, and they ought not to be, the performer should make the announcement. There was confusion and lack of dignity in the remarks from the stage on this occasion.)

MPC 'Foreign Campus' set

Joining 23 community colleges in California, Monterey Peninsula College has taken the first step in creating a "foreign campus" by enlisting forces with an organization called College Abroad to offer 40-day, low-cost European educational programs for up to six units of credit this summer.

The program cost of $1070 (F.O.B. Oakland) includes transportation, instruction by an accredited college instructor, board and room, bus travel in Europe, tips, fees and special tickets, according to Richard Bibler, the MPC instructor in charge of coordinating College Abroad here.

The tours are open to college students, high school seniors and juniors and adults of the Peninsula.

For full information on College Abroad as it will be offered through MPC, interested persons may phone Bibler at MPC (375-9821, Ext. 295)

Petpourri

BY JUDITH EISNER

Tropical fish keeping is the largest, most popular hobby in he United States. As a hobby, tropical fish know no age limitations and appeal to young and old alike. Often, a teen-age boy will get his first aquarium and before he quite realizes what's happening, his father has joined him in his hobby and together they will add more tanks and fish and sophisticated equipment for years to come.

These fish, although "tropical," are, in most cases, hardier than you may imagine and far simpler to raise successfully today. Years ago, to succeed with tropical fish, you had to be able to create and maintain a naturally balanced aquarium. This meant that you had to have the correct proportion of fish to plants to tank size. Today, modern aeration and filtration equipment pretty much take care of things for you. Naturally, you must control the water temperature, acidity-alkalinity and number of fish per gallon of water, but most of the guesswork is gone.

In buying your first aquarium, there are three points to remember. The first is that an aquarium of tropical fish is not a goldfish bowl. The second is that good equipment far outlasts cheap equipment, and the third point is that rarely is a five gallon tank a good investment. We suggest a ten-gallon tank as a good starting size. It's far less apt to get overcrowded too quickly.

The basic equipment you'll need to get started is a tank, heater and filtration-aeration system. This last item cleanses the water of wastes and excess food and also "bubbles in" fresh oxygen for the fish to breathe. A good pump and filtration setup should not only keep the water crystal clear, but should provide years of trouble-free service.

A good quality glass and stainless steel tank is your best bet. You will also need a cover or hood to prevent fish from jumping out of the tank.

When purchasing your water pump, remember that the wide price range represents a wide range of quality; generally, the most expensive pump is the best buy and it will make up for its extra cost in money saved on repairs and lost fish.

Years ago, live plants were an aquarium necessity. Today, while still available, they are usually rejected in favor of artificial plastic plants. The reason for this is simple: live plants require special care and feeding. Even when cared for, they do die and tend to foul the water. Also, the fish love to nibble at their leaves, good for the fish, but not for the plants. One warning: buy your rocks and gravel at a tropical fish store. The beautiful stones you find at the beach may contain minerals that can kill your fish.

Decide if you want to specialize in one kind of fish or whether you prefer an integrated tank; ask advice on selecting fish, as they vary in temperament and aggressive species will usually nip peaceful ones. Also, different fish have different water temperature requirements. Some fish, such as guppies, black Mollies, swordtails and platys are good, hardy fish for the beginner. They are all peaceful fish who get along well together.

Tropical fish not only make a fascinating hobby, but an attractively-decorated, well-lighted aquarium can be the focal point of an entire room. No doubt, you've seen elaborate tanks in waiting rooms and restaurants. The decor of a tank is limited only by your own originality, for the combinations of fish, plants and accessories is practically limitless.

If you're thinking of getting started in tropical fish, we suggest you drop in and chat with Jerry at Exotic Tropicals in Seaside or Salinas. He's truly expert in all phases of fish-keeping and very willing to help the novice. Also, with over 250 tanks at two locations, Exotic Tropicals boasts the most complete stock of fish on the Peninsula.

The next time you read the name "Medicare" in an ad in the Yellow Pages don't think the Social Security Administration put it there.

Also, the next time you do business with a firm that operates under a name like "Medicare Equipment Rental and Sales Company" don't think you are dealing with a government agency.

While "Medicare" is the unofficial name of the Federal health insurance program for senior citizens — a part of the social security program — the government does not advertise in the Yellow Pages or operate an agency that answers "Medicare" every time the telephone rings.

In the past 3½ years some businesses across the country have found profit in using the name "Medicare."

Consequently, many firms changed their names or added the word "Medicare" to them in order to capitalize on the popularity of the new program that has brought medical care within the reach of all older people.

NOTICE OF FILING APPLICATION FOR INCREASES AND DECREASES FOR INTRASTATE TELEPHONE RATES

The Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Company on March 17, 1970, filed with the Public Utilities Commission of the State of California an application, number 51774, for authority to increase and decrease certain intrastate rates and charges applicable to telephone service furnished within the State of California.In general terms, the proposed increases and decreases are as follows:

Exchanges in the San Francisco-East Bay, Sacramento, Los Angeles, San Diego and Orange County extended areas would receive increases resulting from the application of uniform sets of basic exchange rates for residence and business service. The increases would generally be in the range of about $1.85 per main residence telephone and $3.80 per main business telephone.

For exchanges located outside of the San Francisco-East Bay, Sacramento, Los Angeles, San Diego and Orange County extended areas, increases in basic exchange residence and business rates would depend upon the size of the exchange and whether or not extended area service is offered in the exchange. These increases would be generally about $1.85 per main residence telephone and would range from $3.80 to $6.30 per main business telephone.

The message unit charge would be increased from $.0405 to $.045.

Some intrastate message toll telephone rates would be increased and some reduced.

Residence Foreign Exchange Service basic rates, Airport Intercommunicating Service rates, and Centrex Service rates would be increased.

Directory Listings rates for certain Additional Listings and Lines of Information would be increased.

Key Equipment Services rates and charges would be increased for certain MKC, DIAL PAK, and Business Interphone Services.

Mobile Telephone Service monthly rates and service and equipment and non-recurring charges would be increased.

PBX Services and Dispatching System Service rates and charges would be increased.

Service Connection, Move and Change, and In Place Connection Charges would be increased. These increases would range from $1.00 to $3.00.

Supplemental Equipment rates and charges would be increased for some items and reduced for Special Type Cords.

Special Assemblies of Equipment rates and charges would be increased, and special arrangement for use with tandem dial connection would be withdrawn.

Telephone Answering Service rates and charges for cord-operated equipment would be increased.

The rates proposed are estimated to produce additional annual gross revenue of $195,000,000.

The Company's proposed rates would become effective in various California counties and municipal corporations, including the County of Monterey and the Cities of Carmel, Carmel Valley, Big Sur, upon grant of authority therefor by the California Public Utilities Commission. The State of California and the counties and municipal corporations which may be interested in the application may obtain a copy thereof from the Applicant upon request to:

Scouting dinner

Highlight of the 15th Annual Scouters Recognition Dinner for the Peninsual District, held March 16 at Stilwell Hall, Fort Ord, was the principal speaker of the evening, Ralph Head of Los Angeles.

A community leader and one deeply involved for years past in youth activities in the Los Angeles area, Head challenged the nearly 400 scouters and guests not to lose sight of the goals of our country, founded nearly 200 years ago, nor to remain deaf to all the minorities.

Following Head's speech, Ray Witter, District Commissioner, continued the program as he presented nine awards to outstanding scouters of the Peninsula District. Three special awards were presented Miss Edna M. Hohr, Dwight M. Bennett, and Karl F. Schultz in recognition of their outstanding service to scouting over the past five years.

In addition to the special awards, six order-of-merit certificates were presented to Charles Rowell, Robert Smith, Owen Teeters, Major Jack Watson, Sergeant Barry Cockrane and John Coleman. Although the Order of Merit normally requires a year of outstanding service, an exception was made in the award to Major Watson, who had joined the scouting service only six months ago.

Del Monte Lodge

Ernie's and the Blue Fox, both of San Francisco, are the only California restaurants among 12 in the United States to be awarded five-star ratings by the Mobil Travel Guide, it was announced yesterday.

Other Northern California organizations earning five-star ratings were San Francisco's Fairmont Hotel and Tower in the hotel category, and Pebble Beach's Del Monte Lodge in the resort classification.

Our Men In Service

The United States Army has an increasing need for qualified medical specialists in such areas as orthotics, radiological technology, dietetics, and vocational nursing.

Accordingly, local recruiting officials have announced a new volunteer program, the Medical Skills Enlistment Option, which uses this civilian-acquired training and builds upon it. Those who qualify receive the grade and monthly pay of a corporal (E-4) ($214.20) or sergeant (E-5) ($254.70). In addition they receive room and board and free medical and dental care.

Applicants for this program must first have the necessary medical background, complete Army basic training, and attend an advanced individual course, if required. The advanced course would take the applicant to Fort Sam Houston in San Antonio, Texas, for schooling as a medical corpsman. A promotion to the grade of corporal or sergeant would follow.

The medical skills needed at present are: brace specialist, dental hygienist, physical therapy specialist, X-ray assistant, pharmacy specialist, veterinary animal specialist, dental lab assistant, medical laboratory assistant, optical laboratory apprentice, dental assistant, occupational therapy assistant, clinical specialist, preventive medicine specialist, diet cook, and senior medical laboratory specialist.

For further information about this or any of the other special career fields open in the Army today, call Sergeant Jose Garcia at 372-4742 or visit him at his office at 431 Webster St.

Over 12,000 square feet suitable for two handsome homes each with view "down the lane" to Cove known to some as Petticoat Beach because of the lacy white froth edging the blue water. Enos Fouratt's Specials

ACQUIRE YOUR RETIREMENT HOME NOW and lease it until you are ready to retire. If a two-bedroom, one-bath contemporary home suits your requirement, we have one up on the East side of Santa Rita (3rd South of 2nd Ave.) with an excellent assumable loan. Of course the interest will be raised but the lending institution will lengthen the amortization schedule so that the principal and interest payment of $142 per month will remain the same. Try to rent a two-bedroom, one-bath home for that in Carmel. The acquisition fee is $27,500. Try to top that in Carmel. Do not bother the occupants – they are excellent month-to-month tenants.

OCEAN FRONT SITES WITH WATER AVAILABLE ARE INDEED RARE. We have 2.9 acres right on the ocean with underground utilities including water for $51,000. The owner will assist you with the financing at 8% per annum on a negotiable amortization schedule. This is truly appreciation property whether you "sit on it" or build right now. Present owner has elected to build at Clear Lake.

"Green Thumb" Investments

SPRING is the natural time for expecting new growth. That first warm day in shirt sleeves and shorts shows the children's increased size. Early flowers are blooming, trees are in bud with blossoms and new leaves. We gardeners are trying to make our "green thumbs" show greener. Success is determined by the results.

"GREENBACK" growth also needs the care and supervision of a "green thumb" investment counselor. Germination is fast – results will be manifold.

Our productive investments provide cash flow, tax shelter, equity growth and inflation hedge. Varying results will depend upon the seed you plant.

Spring is a natural time for planting and new growth. Why not plant with us now to receive "green thumb" investment help and a "greenback" harvest in season – like every month.

Easter Message by the Rt. Rev. C. Kilmer Myers, Episcal Bishop of California:

Christianity is a religion which speaks of the renewal of all creation in Christ who rises from death. Ours is a religion of new life, transfigured life. The Resurrection therefore is not only personal renewal; it also is societal renewal, natural renewal, institutional renewal — all in Christ who is not a sectarian; He is Lord of all.

But before Easter there was the death and destruction of Calvary. Even the sun hid its face and there were earthquakes. Night precedes the dawn. This is the nature of our existence and it is providential.

Our dear country — indeed, our dear planet — is moving into the night of troubles, of terror, of death. In the midst of our travail Christ again will touch the lips of new prophets and kings. They will speak for Him even though we in our anxious anger may murder them. But they will say to all of us: following the night the Sun will rise in the East.

This is our faith.

Good Friday Three Hour Ecumenical Service
